ISA CONSULTING AWARDED "ELITE" STATUS BY INFORMATICA

Newly launched partner program lays strong foundation for continued client success

February 27, 2008 (Blue Bell, PA) — ISA Consulting has been named an "Elite" partner within Informatica Corporation's comprehensive partner program, INFORM. Developed from Informatica's well-respected Alliance Program, INFORM grants "Elite" partners access to its beINFORMed Partner Portal. This online tool allows partners to utilize Informatica's newest software products, its various educational resources and technical support. The "Elite" partnership designation further enhances ISA's ability to offer its clients high performance solutions, rapid project timeframes and sound advice in the Data Integration, Business Intelligence and Performance Management spaces.

Harry Gould, Informatica's Senior Vice President, Worldwide Alliances, believes that the partnership between Informatica and ISA Consulting was a natural fit, saying, "With its strong history in Data Integration and Business Intelligence, ISA perfectly complements our market-leading products with sound advice, industry best practices and implementation excellence."

"ISA Consulting is steadfastly dedicated to continuing professional education and the development of long-term, prosperous partnerships," said Tim Dickens, Vice President of Data Integration for ISA Consulting. As evidenced by our new status as an 'Elite' partner, our commitment to these core principals is shared by Informatica. Moving forward, we are confident that the fusion of Informatica's powerful software with ISA's proven project management practices will deliver increased business value."
